I am sure that in years to come 2020 will feature in the history books, for local history as well as national and international. I can imagine future generations writing their theses about how the world at times stood still, and at other times and places was in a frenzy dealing with the pandemic. Back in April I started writing notes under the title ‘Covid-19: What did you do in the great coronavirus pandemic Granny?’ Perhaps you have done something similar, recording your own personal local history. Posterity may, or may not, thank us.

One thing we learnt was the importance of keeping our group (and others) going as best we can. For now, that still means focusing on talks delivered by Zoom. Lesley has three speakers lined up for us so far:

DATE	SUBJECT	SPEAKER
5th January	The Wild West Comes East Buffalo Bill’s wild west shows in East Anglia	Phil Lyons
2nd February	Charles Darwin & the Voyage of the Beagle	James Taylor
2nd March	Historical Dance	Jackie Marshall-Ward

Do join us. Talks start at 2.15pm.
